GREEK REVIVAL ROOM OVERVIEW

The room is dated c. 1840–41 and is made of painted, grained, and faux marble cypress and hard pine. Original elements include some ornamental plaster from two doorways and their casings, a door knob, one window and framing, and a cast ceiling rosette.

The original elements came from a house at Camp St. and St. Joseph in New Orleans, designed by the architect W. L. Atkinson. Most of the woodwork and plaster work is reproduction from the late 1950s, based on the woodwork from the New Orleans house.
